ASDAN Qualifications and the new UCAS Points Tariff for 2017

Please note that UCAS points are not the same thing as 16-19 Performance Tables; UCAS points are of value to the individual learner while qualifications that count on the new 16-19 Performance Tables are of value to the standing of the school or college. Visit the ASDAN website for more information for applicants to Higher Education.

The new 16-19 Performance Tables come into force for qualifications achieved in Summer 2016 and will be published around the start of 2017. In the 16-19 Performance Tables, qualifications that are less than 150 guided learning hours and ungraded will not count for the school or college.
